

FAO Year 12 Criminology students

Your son / daughter has not completed their controlled assessment for Criminology in their planned time slot in December 22/January 23. This controlled assessment contributes towards their final grade within Criminology, with all students having to secure at least a 'Pass' within this unit to complete the course.

The college has previously communicated to all students regarding the seriousness of external assessments and the consequences of missing these. Within Criminology, a further opportunity has been created for your son / daughter to complete this assessment on Thurs 2nd and Fri 3rd February.

Failure to attend this further controlled assessment opportunity will result in them having to resit the unit and incur a charge of £40 for the costs associated with this resit.

We hope you understand our position on this and ask that you support us in making sure your son / daughter attends all future exams at college.

FAO Year 13 Criminology students

Your son / daughter has not completed their controlled assessment for Criminology in their planned time slot in December 22/January 23. This controlled assessment contributes towards their final grade within Criminology, with all students having to secure at least a 'Pass' within this unit to complete the course.

The college has previously communicated to all students regarding the seriousness of external assessments and the consequences of missing these. Within Criminology, a final opportunity has been created for your son / daughter to complete this assessment on Thurs 2nd and Fri 3rd February.

Failure to attend this further controlled assessment opportunity will result in them failing the diploma qualification.

We ask that you support us in making sure your son / daughter attends this and all future exams at college.
